

Ravadee Prasertcharoensuk has an educational background in social administration, Community Development, and Human Rights. She has worked in the Development field since 1975, after her graduation until now. She has actual direct working experience in the rural sector before playing an active role in advocacy and campaign for structural change toward people-centered Sustainable Development at the National and International level.

Since 2018, she has been the Director of Sustainable Development Foundation (SDF), a rights-based environmental non-government organization promoting for inclusion, governance, customary rights on ecosystem-based sustainable natural resource management, people-centered, and women's rights.

Expertise: Community Development, Gender, Environmental Governance, Multi stakeholders Ecosystem Natural Resource Management, Climate Change and Disaster Risk Management, climate change Adaptation.

Present work:

- Building Coastal Resilience in Climate Change. Adaptation
- Customary right of small scale fishers and indigenous sectors towards Ecosystem-Based Natural Resource Management
- Laying the groundwork for gender mainstream in Thailand National climate change and disaster management.
- Women Rights towards sustainable Development.
- Policy study gender climate change and biodiversity study.
- Develop guidebook on gender mainstreaming on disaster management.

Honorable position

- Executive Board member International collective in support of fish worker. ICSF
- Organizing committee: Asia Pacific law and wone in Development.
- One of the initiators of Thailand Climate justice for all network.
- Ex-president of Thailand NGO coordinating committee on Development
- Ex-chair of Thailand Environmental network.
- Outstanding student of Thammasat University.
- Outstanding Social activist of Komon Kreamthong Foundation.

*Sustainable Development Foundation is an outstanding Human Rights NGO in Thailand.

<http://www.sdfthai.org/>